

*feeding the minds
that feed the world*

Are you a cleantech company involved in the science of food? Do you have an innovative solution to help advance our planet’s food safety, nutrition and sustainability? Do you want to connect with over 20,000 top food science & technology experts to hone your expertise?

Then join the Prairie Biosciences Canada delegation in Chicago!

PBC is a one stop shop for cleantech companies to receive support needed at a variety of international trade events. We can assist with the financial aspect of attendance via subsidization of exhibition space, conference registration, travel and accommodation. But that’s not all—we also offer mentorship and training to maximize your conference experience.

PBC delegates will stand behind a united brand designed to ensure a stronger presence at events while providing a home base to free up your valuable time to attend B2B meetings.

Why IFT18?

Learn with purpose

Fuel your passion for the science of food through thought-provoking sessions

Innovate with purpose

Keep your finger on the pulse of what’s coming next in the science of food & food technology

Connect with purpose

Immerse yourself into a community committed to innovation & sustainability

Financial subsidies, up to $2000, are available to assist prairie-based companies with registration, travel and accommodation costs. In conjunction with NicheMktg (nichemktg.ca), preconference training will be offered at $100/person along with three (3) hours of 1:1 mentoring for an additional $100/person

For more information or to apply for subsidies, please contact Jenn Friesen at jenn@prairiebiosciences.ca

Supported by:
Western Economic
Diversification Canada

